

Carpet Reclamation

With today's compliance issues, as well as our elevated awareness of environmental issues, disposal of old flooring isn't as simple as ripping it up and throwing it in a dumpster. That's why StarNet® Member Companies offer complete, flooring recycling and reclamation services as an integral part of the complete flooring project process.

Our One-Stop StarNet Reclamation Program is a completely environmentally friendly service. It is LEED compliant and can be used for LEED accreditation. It also works within the green initiatives set forth by the Carpet America Recovery Effort (CARE). And because we work right here in your neighborhood, we are also up to speed on all local compliance regulations in addition to all the federal mandates. So you never have to worry about anything getting overlooked.

Our One-Stop StarNet Recycling Program also alleviates the hassles that can be associated with environmentally responsible disposal. Because all you need to do is call us, and we take of the entire process - from removal to compliance to certification - from there. We'll:

- Supply a comprehensive quote with no hidden expenses
 - Have our trained and experienced staff remove your old flooring quickly and professionally
 - Arrange transportation to our dedicated reclamation center
 - Provide proof that the material did not go to the landfill
 - Document the procedure and submit records for compliance
- Our unbiased program is flexible enough to accept and recycle virtually all carpet materials. Any fibers. From any mill.

Then, once we get your old carpet to our Service Center, we bring it back to life in the form of new "green" flooring products, consumer and industrial parts, or converted into energy. In fact, no useful part of your old floor goes to waste. It's the flooring industry's equivalent to reincarnation.

So stop worrying about what you're going to do with your old floor. Call us. We'll take care of it. Plus, we can help you spec "green" choices for your new floor too. It's all part of what you can expect when you choose us to manage your entire flooring process.

Although many manufacturers claim to have a comprehensive reclamation programs, the fact of the matter is they are not equipped to deal with the logistics of reclamation unless the situation fits a standard profile and the material meets set guidelines. While we applaud their efforts, our program is flexible enough to accommodate both small and large reclamation requirements, regardless of fiber or backing content and we have the expertise to make it happen.
